Two Days with Sallyann Roth - Ft Lauderdale, FL - January 15-16, 2010

SALLYANN ROTH is one of the founding members of the Harvard Public Conversations Project, an associate of the Taos Institute, and former co-director of the Family Institute of Cambridge. She presents her ideas nationally and internationally, most recently in Finland and Spain.

Sallyann's two days at NSU will offer participants opportunities to learn new ways of engaging clients in conversations that move opponents toward mutual understanding. Whether working with differences of identity, ideology, religion, values, or world views, these two days will offer ideas to help individuals, families, and communities to connect, or reconnect, by meeting one another in new ways.

DAY ONE: From Discord to Dialogue
Essential principles and practices of the Public Conversations Project, skills for engaging with groups who experience polarized disagreements, and the application of these skills in structured conversations.

DAY TWO: Overcoming Estrangement
Theories and principles at the foundation of Sallyann's practice with families, expansion of clinical practice skills, the structure of meetings, and preparations for assisting estranged family members to re-connect with one another.
