Fall in Review

Greetings SHSS Family!

It has been a pleasure to serve you as President of SHSS SGA for the past few months, and I wanted to also share with you once more how much our SGA values transparency, community building, and scholarship. Thus far, we have received excellent feedback from you all regarding our on goings, and there is still yet more to come! I look forward to working with you as the fall term dwindles down, and upon our return to class in the winter of 2013. During the next few months, we really want to strive to strengthen our wonderful cross-disciplinary community, while also having purpose driven events that help those who are in need. After all, in one way or another, we are in this realm of humanities and social sciences to ultimately, help others; so that's what we'll do.

I wish you all an excellent holiday break, if you have any questions, comments or concerns, please feel free to contact your SGA representatives at any time and we look forward to an exciting second half of this academic school year!

Peace/Love,

Carl M. Letamendi, MBA

Congratulations to Kelly Macias, winner of the Spirit of Community Engagement Scholarship:

The Spirit of Community Engagement Scholarship is an award of $500 towards academic and community engagement endeavors. Below is an excerpt from Kelly's essay, titled Experiences and lessons learned from helping families, communities and society-at-large...

"Si quieres paz lucha por la justicia." "If you want peace, work for justice."

-Pope Paul IV

I remember the exact day that I saw the phrase above. I was a junior in high school, standing outside of the faculty parking lot at my all-girls Catholic school. My favorite nun and Spanish teacher, Sister Mary Anne Smith, was leaving school in her beat up Toyota Corolla. She waived to me and, as I watched her drive away, I followed the car with my eyes thinking about what an old clunker her car was. Then I saw it. A bright red bumper sticker on the back with these words in white. While I understood the literal translation of the words, they didn't mean much to me then. Little did I know that eighteen years later, they would be a guiding principle in my life.

*During junior year of college, a friend of mine gave me the book Savage Inequalities to read. Suddenly, my life's path was clear. Outraged by inequalities in the public school system, and social injustice more generally, I decided to apply for and was ultimately accepted into Teach for America...*

Holiday Greetings to All!

It is my pleasure to greet you on behalf of the SHSS Leadership Team and Faculty. As my first semester as the SHSS SGA Faculty Advisor comes to a close, I could not be more proud of the accomplishments of the SHSS SGA. This year's SGA has worked extremely hard to provide students, faculty, staff, and administration with transparency, openness, collaboration, and fun! We kicked off the semester with beautiful Welcome Week Events, our First Annual Interdepartmental Symposium, several social events, and awarded the SHSS SGA Spirit of Service Endowed Scholarship to Kelly Macias of the Department of Conflict Analysis and Resolution. The SHSS SGA has so much to be proud of, and we salute their efforts and accomplishments! We all look forward to what is in store for the upcoming Winter Term! It is our sincere hope that you reflect on your own successes this semester, and take time to enjoy the holiday season with your family and friends. See you in 2013!

Greetings from SHSS SGA VP Jazmin Letamendi

I am thankful for the great work our SHSS SGA has been able to accomplish the fall 2012 term and for our team spirit! As VP, planning the logistics for Welcome Week and ordering the variety of food and giveaways for students each day, along with the members greeting our students, staff, and faculty, before class was a enormous success and perfect way to kick off the school year. I have been working behind the scenes, aiding our students who wish to become engaged student leaders and streamlining the chartering process for graduate working groups within our college. Please remember that in order to recognize graduate working groups, submittals ought to include the executive board and members form, signed guidelines and acknowledgement, your organization's constitution, budget and fund request form.

We still have much more to do and are excited about the upcoming winter term and other events to come! Stay tuned!

Regards,

Jazmin Letamendi, M.S.

Dr. Bastidas and Dr. Hansen in Suriname

Needs Assessment and Capacity Building Strategy for Conflict Resolution: Suriname Program

In June of 2012 the government of Suriname and NSU signed the agreement Needs Assessment and Capacity Building Strategy for Conflict Resolution: Suriname Program for $ 77,821. Under this agreement DCAR (Department of Conflict Analysis and Resolution) faculty and students will advise, train and develop a capacity building strategy for Conflict Resolution, CR, as it applies to the current multi-stakeholder processes in Suriname. The project is expected to last a year.

What led to this agreement? During the summer of 2011 thirteen DCAR students traveled to Suriname with Dr. Elena Bastidas as part of a Global Course Program developed by SHSS, NSU. During this trip they had the opportunity to deliver Conflict Analysis training to a group of government officials, academics and members of the civil society of Suriname. The workshop was well received by the participants and led to a series of conversations between the government of Suriname and NSU regarding possible collaboration in Capacity Building of CR Approaches for diverse stakeholders processes.

So far three training workshops have taken place in Suriname, one focusing on An Introduction to CR and Multi-Stakeholder Processes for Governance and Sustainable Development, developed for government officials. The second, Social Poligraphy as a Tool to Facilitate Maroon and Indigenous Peoples' Land Rights Processes, developed for Indigenous peoples and Maroons of Suriname, led by Colombian experts. The third focusing on CR Tools and Skills targeted for people working for the mining and natural resource management.

The importance of the introduction of Conflict Resolution workshops is highlighted by the Land Rights process that is underway in Suriname, where the government is in negotiations with Indigenous and Maroon tribes to define the legal rights of their territories. In addition the mining sector, in particular gold mining, presents a big challenge in terms of stakeholders processes, providing training on CR skills is a priority for the government and the mining industry.

Leading the project are Dr. Elena Bastidas, Dr. Toran Hansen and one of our Ph.D. candidates, Gwendolyn Smith, who is native of Suriname.
